

What We Pay For Our Police Force

PCC

Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner Devon and Cornwall

Police and Crime Commissioner Alison Hernandez outlines her plans to raise money and recruit 85 new police officers

In Devon and Cornwall last year two out of every three households* contributed about £3.20 a week towards the cost of policing this beautiful place in which we live, work, and play.

Your council tax bill for this year shows the contribution your household will make to the police in the next 12 months – a Band C property will pay £188.69.

That's an increase of 41p a week which will raise £14.3m and allow us to recruit an extra 85 police officers, bringing officer numbers up to 3,100 by the end of 2020 – the highest number of officers since the first police and crime commissioner elections in 2012.

This will allow the chief constable to:

Place a police officer in every sector with responsibility for better connecting the police and public

Recruit more detectives so more criminals are brought to justice

Maintain our investment in roads policing and recruit more response officers

I am also committed to driving the force to use what it has more efficiently, so more funds can be reinvested in the front line.

Without the additional funding we would have had to stop recruitment of front line officers – who are increasingly dealing with the mentally unwell, significant summer demand pressures, serious crimes and a constant terrorist threat.

*59.5% of households in Devon and Cornwall are rated at Band C or below.

In 2018/19 a Band C property paid £3.21 towards policing through their council tax.

0.41p a week would be for a Band C property.

Budget Highlights 2018/19

38 armed response and 28 roads policing officers

Last Year our Budget was £295m

We won bids for £750k
of Govt funding for innovative projects

Where the police budget of £295m came from

● Government grant
● Council Tax

98.2% of our budget goes on operational policing

£2m Funding for our victim care unit

Last year we spent £23.9m to give police the facilities and equipment
they need

Last year the PCC commissioned £3.7m of services to keep communities safe

Including
£1.6m to community safety partnerships £500k to youth services
£343k to help victims of sexual violence

85%

of our budget is spent on officers and staff

OPCC Initiatives in Cornwall

- Tri-service officers located in St Just, Hayle, Bude, Liskeard, Looe St Dennis, Fowey/ Polruan, Perranporth, St Ives and Lostwithiel.
- £13m for new county operational headquarters in Bodmin and new build underway in Liskeard.
- Over £608k to the Community Safety Partnership and Youth Offending Team in Cornwall.
- £50k to support 10 new safer towns' partnerships.
- Over £60k for CCTV funding in St Ives, Bodmin, Penzance, Wadebridge and St Austell.