Part 1 of the Publication Scheme

Introduction

The Police and Crime Commissioner's role and responsibilities

The Police and Crime Commissioner has been elected by the communities of Devon, Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly.

The Police and Crime Commissioner:

- Is singularly accountable to you for the policing of Devon and Cornwall
- Listens to your views on community safety and set priorities in a plan for the police which address community concerns
- Ensures the Chief Constable directs police officers and resources to tackle the things that you say are important
- Sets the strategic direction for policing but not interfere with day-to-day police operations or tactics
- Balances local needs of the public and victims against assisting national policing responsibilities
- Appoints and, in extreme circumstances dismiss the Chief Constable

Your rights under the Freedom of Information Act 2000

The Freedom of Information (FOI) Act 2000 gives you a right of access to recorded information held by public authorities, subject to certain exemptions.

The FOI Act applies to the vast majority of public authorities, including the Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner for Devon, Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly. If you ask us for information we are required to:

- let you know in writing whether we hold information you have asked for; and if we do
- provide the information to you within 20 working days, unless it is subject to an exemption.

We also have a duty to provide advice or assistance to you or anyone seeking information (for example in order to explain what is readily available or to clarify what is wanted).

Our legal responsibility to publish information

The Secretary of State has issued statutory instruments which set out a range of information that the Police and Crime Commissioner must make available. This information is detailed in the Elected Local Policing Bodies (Specified Information) Order 2011, the Elected Local Policing Bodies (Specified Information) (Amendment) Order 2012, and the Elected Local Policing Bodies (Specified Information) (Amendment) Order 2021. The Information Commissioner has also issued a definition document giving examples of the kinds of information that the Police and Crime Commissioner is expected to make available. This information is recorded in Part 2 of this publication scheme.

Information recorded in Part 2 will be published under this scheme unless:

- The information is not held.
- The information is exempt under one of the Freedom of Information Act exemptions or Environmental Information Regulations exceptions, or its release is prohibited under another statute.
- The information is readily and publically available from an external website; such information may have been provided either by us, or on our behalf. In which case we will provide a link to the information.
- The information is archived, out of date or otherwise inaccessible, or
- It would be impractical or resource intensive to prepare the material for routine release.

Our publication scheme

Under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 all public bodies must have a Publication Scheme setting out the information we routinely make publicly available. Our scheme must be approved by the Information Commissioner and we have to review the scheme annually. Our Publication Scheme has regard to the public interest in:

- allowing public access to information we hold; and
- to the publication of reasons for the decisions we make.

Our publication scheme must:

- set out the types of information which we publish or intend to publish;
- say how we will publish the information, and
- say if we will provide the information free or charge for it.

The purpose of our Publication Scheme is to let you know what information is readily available from us. By readily available we mean that the information is available on our website. If you do not have access to our website you can request the information by letter, e-mail or telephone call.

This publication scheme commits us to:

- proactively specify and publish, as a matter of routine, information which is held by the Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner and falls within the classifications given in Part 2 of the publication scheme or in line with the statements contained within this scheme
- produce and publish the methods by which specific information is made routinely available so that it can be easily identified and accessed by members of the public
- review and update on a regular, and specified basis, the information the Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner makes available under this scheme
- produce a schedule of any fees charged for access to information which is made proactively available
- make this publication scheme available to the public

Part 3 of The Publication Scheme

Charges

The purpose of this scheme is to make the maximum amount of information readily available at minimum inconvenience and cost to the public. Charges made by the Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner for routinely published material will be justified and transparent and kept to a minimum.

Material which is published and accessed on a website will be provided free of charge.

Charges may be made for information subject to a charging regime specified by Parliament.

Charges may be made for actual disbursements incurred such as:

- photocopying
- postage and packaging
- the costs directly incurred as a result of viewing information

Charges may also be made for information provided under this scheme where they are legally authorised, they are in all the circumstances, including the general principles of the right of access to information held by public authorities, justified and are in accordance with a published schedule or schedules of fees which is readily available to the public.

If a charge is to be made, confirmation of the payment due will be given before the information is provided. Payment may be requested prior to provision of the information.

Note: Section 12 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA) provides an exemption from a public authority's obligation to comply with a request for information where the cost of compliance is estimated to exceed £450. If this exemption applies the existence of the information will be confirmed or denied, unless the cost of doing so would exceed the appropriate limit.

Part 4 Freedom of Information Requests and Complaints

If you require information that is not readily available through our publication scheme, you can ask for any information you think we may hold. This right only covers recorded information which includes information held on computers, in emails and in printed or handwritten documents as well as images, video and audio recordings.

The Information Commissioner has issued guidance on how to make a Freedom of Information Request which you can access at the following web address:

http://www.ico.gov.uk/about\_us/~media/documents/library/Freedom\_of\_Information/Practical\_application/ITS\_PUBLIC\_INFORMATION\_FOI%20CHARTER\_FINAL.ashx

The following draws from that guidance and should assist you in making your request.

Give your contact details

State your name, address and other contact details clearly.

Label your request

It will help us if you label your request as being made under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 and Environmental Information Regulations 2004.

Direct your request to the right place

Send your request by email, or by letter to the following address:

FOI Officer
Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner for Devon, Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly
Andy Hocking House
Alderson Drive
Exeter
EX2 7RP

Email: opcc@dc-pcc.gov.uk

Means of communication

Make clear in your request whether you have a preference for how you would like to receive the information – for example, if you would prefer a paper copy or to receive it by email.

Describe the information you require

Effective freedom of information requests will be specific. Think carefully about what information you are seeking. Ask for the information you need, rather than a general question you want us to answer. Remember that the Act and Regulations provide rights of access to information held by public authorities. Precision and clarity in your description should lead to a prompt response and will help to keep your request below the cost limit for compliance. Listing dates, names of people, other bodies and links to other related sources will help us to comply with your request.

(Your request can be in the form of a question, rather than a request for specific documents, but we do not have to answer your question if this would mean creating new information or giving an opinion or judgment that is not already recorded).

Some information may not be given to you because it is exempt, for example because it would unfairly reveal personal details about somebody else.

What happens after you make your request?

We will respond to you within 20 working days. We will either:

- give you the information you've asked for;
- tell you we don't have the information;

- tell you that another authority holds the information or transfer the request on your behalf;
- under the Freedom of Information Act, say that we have the information and offer to provide it if you pay us a fee (please see the 'charges' section above);
- under the Environmental Information Regulations, make a reasonable charge for providing information in accordance with our schedule of charges. ( If we allow you to view a public register or other information in person, at a place of our choice, we will not charge for this);
- refuse to give you the information, and explain why; or,
- under the Freedom of Information Act, say that we need more time to consider the public interest in disclosing or withholding the information, and tell you when to expect a response. This should not be later than 40 working days after the date of your request. We can only extend the time limit in certain circumstances, and we will explain why we think the information may be exempt;
- under the Environmental Information Regulations, say that we need more time as the information requested is particularly complex and there is a lot of information to provide. In such cases the time limit can be extended by a further 20 working days as long we respond within the initial time limit stating when we believe we will be able to respond in full.

The Freedom of Information Act recognises that there will be valid reasons why some kinds of information may be withheld, such as if its release would prejudice national security or damage commercial interests. For some exemptions we must consider whether the public interest in withholding the information outweighs the public interest in releasing it. If we decide that the information cannot be released we will tell you and explain why. We are not obliged to deal with vexatious or repeated requests or in some cases if the cost exceeds an appropriate limit. In addition the Act does not provide the right of access to personal information about yourself. This is instead available under the Data Protection Act again, subject to certain exemptions, and is known as a subject access request.

Making a complaint

If we refuse your request, or if you are dissatisfied with the way we have dealt with your request you should first complain to:

The Chief Executive
Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner for Devon, Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly
Andy Hocking House
Alderson Drive
Exeter
EX2 7RP

Email: opcc@dc-pcc.gov.uk

and ask us to conduct an internal review. For freedom of information complaints the Information Commissioner recommends that you do this as soon as possible and within two months of receiving our final response.

For environmental information complaints you should make your complaint within 40 working days.

We will carry out an internal review within 20 working days. Under Environmental Regulations Information there is a legal requirement that internal reviews must be carried out as soon as possible and within 40 working days. We will not charge for carrying out an internal review.

If you believe that we have not dealt with your complaint properly, you can complain to the Information Commissioner:
