General Information

- The Police and Crime Commissioner covers Devon (including Torbay and Plymouth), Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly.
- The Police and Crime Commissioner is elected to the role by the communities of Devon, Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly.

The Devon & Cornwall Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) will:

- Be singularly accountable to you for the policing of Devon and Cornwall.
- Listen to your views on community safety and set priorities in a plan for the police which addresses community concerns.
- Ensure the Chief Constable directs police officers and resources to tackle the things that you say are important.
- Set the strategic direction for policing but not interfere with day-to-day police operations or tactics.
- Balance local needs of the public and victims against assisting national policing responsibilities.
- Appoint and, in extreme circumstances dismiss the Chief Constable.
The Independent Custody Visiting Scheme

Who are Independent Custody Visitors? (ICVs)

Independent custody visitors are members of the local community who visit custody centres unannounced to check on the welfare of people in police custody. They come from a variety of backgrounds and sections of the community and they must be over 18 years old, live or work in the area of Devon, Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly and have been resident in the UK for the past three years prior to application.

To maintain the independence of the scheme, serving police officers and staff and members of the Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner, Special Constables, Lay Justices and Members of the Police and Crime Panel cannot be independent custody visitors.

The role of an Independent Custody Visitor

To observe, comment and report on...

- The rights of the detainee;
- The health and welfare of the detainee;
- Conditions of the facilities of detention.

Why would you want to become an Independent Custody Visitor?

This is your chance to offer protection to both detainees and the police, and reassure the community at large and gain an insight into the criminal justice system by checking on the treatment of people in police custody, the conditions in which they are held, and that their rights and entitlements are being observed.

Visiting a custody centre can take between half an hour to two hours twice a month. Independent Custody Visitors always visit in pairs and decide themselves when the visit is made, morning, day or night.

Custody centres receive four visits per month per station; these include Exeter, Torquay, Plymouth, Barnstaple, Newquay and Camborne. ICVs generally visit their two closest stations.

The Police and Criminal Evidence Act (PACE) is a major reference for independent custody visitors as well as equality, diversity and human rights legislation. Full training will be provided, and at least, the first 12 visits will be alongside experienced visitors. Further related training is provided to increase understanding of the diverse and challenging circumstances that arise in this voluntary position.
How are Independent Custody Visitors selected and trained?

After you have read through this information, and wish to continue with the recruitment process, you can complete and return the application form in this application pack.

If you are shortlisted, you will be asked to attend an informal interview. You will need to demonstrate:

- An understanding of the role of an Independent Custody Visitor
- Commitment to the role
- Respect for and understanding of equality, diversity and human rights
- Excellent communication skills
- Impartiality

If you are successful at informal interview, you will be sent a vetting form to complete and return. This is in order for us to carry out the relevant security checks. Upon successful vetting checks you will be issued with an official identity card which you must use when visiting.

Following clearance at the vetting stage, we will arrange a familiarisation visit to a local custody suite. You will also be invited to attend an induction day, organised by the scheme co-ordinator.

Further training will take place during your time as an independent custody visitor including mandatory equality, diversity and human rights training, which will include information regarding the General Duty on Public Sector organisations and the Human Rights Act of 1989.
When and where are visits made?

Custody centres should be visited ideally once a week, in accordance with the ICV rota. An ICV will be expected to undertake at least two visits per month. Visits can be at any time of the day or night and they can take anything from 30 minutes to two hours depending on how many detainees wish to be seen and how busy the centre is. It is the responsibility of the volunteer, in consultation with their visiting partner, to arrange a mutually convenient time to undertake a visit. The visits should be random and unannounced but should ideally aim to ensure that a visit takes place over a wide selection of days and times throughout the month.

What happens when Independent Custody Visitors make a visit?

ICVs must maintain their independence and impartiality. They do not take sides but look, listen and report accurately on what they find in the custody centres. On arrival at the police station, the ICVs will be escorted to the custody centre. The detainees will be identified by their custody numbers only and strict rules of confidentiality apply.

Conversation with detainees will focus on whether or not they have been offered their rights and entitlements under the Police and Criminal Evidence Act. Interviews with detainees are, for the ICV’s protection, normally carried out within sight, but out of hearing of the escorting officer. Immediate areas of concern will be raised by ICVs with the custody officer, at the time of the visit and any necessary action taken.

Reporting procedures

A straightforward report is completed after each visit. It provides an insight into the running of the custody centre at the time of the visit. Copies of the reports are provided for the police and Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner.

Visit reports provide a vital source of information on the environmental and welfare conditions in which detainees are held. The information is analysed and the areas for action highlighted. Any issue not resolved or unable to be resolved at the time of the visit will be carried forward here.

Other duties

ICVs must treat the details of what they see and hear on their visit as confidential. They are expected to report in general terms to the OPCC at appropriate times. ICVs must also attend volunteer meetings, which provide an opportunity to resolve outstanding issues, share experience and best practice. These meetings will be held quarterly, usually on a Saturday. They are also required to attend training as and when required to maintain their understanding of current practices.
Police dog welfare

ICVs are also given the opportunity to join the police dog welfare scheme. The purpose of this scheme is to provide an independent observation and to comment and report on conditions under which dogs are housed, trained and transported with a view to securing greater public understanding and confidence in these matters. It also provides an independent check on the way police dog handlers carry out their responsibilities with regard to the welfare of animals in their care.

Eligibility and Guidance

Before you proceed with your application, please check that you meet all essential criteria as set out in the role description on page 9.

Criminal histories
Once a candidate is selected for appointment after the informal talk stage, you will be asked to complete a vetting form. Where an applicant has one or more convictions for criminal offences, or has received any formal caution, warning or reprimand, or has failed to disclose any such finding, the specific circumstances must be considered in assessing suitability to become an ICV. However, past offending is not an automatic barrier to acceptance. Therefore convictions or cautions will not necessarily preclude a candidate from an appointment. Your appointment will be confirmed subject to passing the vetting process.

Financial position
A volunteer with the Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner may be in a position to access or hear potentially sensitive or personal information. Such information could potentially make a volunteer vulnerable to corruption. Applicants should not therefore be under pressure from un-discharged debts or liabilities and should be able to manage loans and debts sensibly. However, most applicants have debts, such as mortgages, un-discharged students or other loans, and credit/store card debts. Arrears in any outstanding debts must be given, including IVAs (individual Voluntary agreements/arrangements), arrangements with financial institutions’ or others to whom monies are owed.

Nationality
To be eligible for appointment you must be a British Citizen or a member of the EC or other states in the EEA. Commonwealth citizens and foreign nationals are also eligible but only if they are resident in the UK free of restrictions. If you are a commonwealth citizen or a foreign national you must provide proof that you have no restrictions on your stay in the UK. If invited to an informal talk, you will be asked to produce your original passport, and if you are a non-UK national it must show that your stay is free of restrictions. Please DO NOT send your actual passport with this application. Other documentary evidence of your status may be required.

Membership of British National Party or similar
The Police and Crime Commissioner has a policy of prohibiting any of their officers, volunteers and staff from becoming members of the BNP or similar organisations whose aims, objectives or pronouncements may contradict the duty to promote race equality. If you are, or have been, a member of the BNP or similar, your application may be rejected.
Ineligible occupations and activities
You cannot be considered for appointment as a volunteer if there were a significant chance that this could lead to a conflict of interest, either for yourself or for others, between the obligations as an independent custody visitor and your effectiveness in your professional life or any other voluntary role being undertaken. It is important to minimise the risk that independent custody visitors might be pressed to abuse their position within the Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner.

For this reason an application may be refused if it is believed that a conflict could take place.

Data protection
The personal information you provide in this application form will be processed in accordance with current data protection legislation for the purposes of assessing your suitability for the role. Further information can be found by clicking here

Please read these instructions before completing this form:

- Write clearly in black ink. It can be hand written or typed. This will make sure that photocopies are clear and easily read.
- Do not send a CV as it will not be considered. Make sure all the information you want to tell us is on the application form.
- Make sure you have completed all sections. If a section is not applicable, write ‘N/A’ clearly.
- Post your application well before the closing date.

Helpful tips

- Read through the application form and other information supplied in this pack before completing it.
- Do a rough draft first. It helps avoid mistakes and ensures your application is organised and impactive.
- After completing a draft, leave it for a while and then look at it again. This can often highlight an alternative or better approach.
- Also, ask someone else to read your draft. They may notice spelling mistakes or areas you might have missed, no matter how often you have checked it.
- Keep a copy of the completed form as if you are called for the next stage in the selection process you will find it useful.
Data Security

We will take all reasonable steps to ensure the security of your personal data. However, we must remind you that external e-mail is an insecure medium. If you choose to send the completed form to us electronically you do so at your own risk.

You may prefer to print the completed form and post it to us at the address on page 12. Please complete the email authorisation declaration below
